

Humana People to People spans the globe through 29 independent member associations, each one with a firm base in their own country. Our core development work is in community development, sustainable agriculture and environment, health, education and the collection and sale of second-hand clothes.

In 2022, we reached 16.3 million people through implementation of 1 410 project units across Africa, Asia, Central and South America. We protect the planet, build communities and support people by connecting them with others in transformative programmes, unleashing their potential for positive change and action.

Our development actions align with the UN 2030 Agenda and support countries to meet the UN Sustainable Development Goals.

Community Development

Our Community Development programmes
take place in communities where life needs to improve. We support social cohesion and together we find opportunities to create progress.

In our Community Development projects, a local Action Group is a main structure. An Action Group places the control of development processes and decision-making into the hands of the people who are affected. People get together, identify their needs and decide on actions to take.

Sustainable Agriculture & Environment

Smallholder farmers can play a crucial role in establishing sustainable food systems locally, fighting hunger and malnutrition in their communities.

Our sustainable agriculture concept, Farmers' Clubs place farmers and their families at the centre of farming activities. The clubs develop ethical, sustainable production and regenerative farming practices that farmers can implement together in their communities, in harmony with nature.

"Only the people can liberate themselves from AIDS, the epidemic" has been TCE's slogan since

Health

Positive health outcomes rely on people living well and having the ambition and energy to build and maintain good health in their communities.

Our health projects have always built on the active participation of the people to gain control of HIV and AIDS, TB, malaria, malnutrition, as well as non-infectious diseases. The approach is communitycentred and people-led as it organises, supports and strengthens people's responsive capacities.

Education

Education is the foundation for peace, solidarity, inclusiveness and sustainable development. Education is as a fundamental human right and must be publicly accessible to all.

Our education programmes promote inclusiveness, are engaging and are participatory in their methods, relevant and purposeful in their content and build knowledge, understanding and agency in the students to address 21st century challenges as an ultimate impact.

Collection and Sales of Second-hand Clothes

Textiles produce 10% of the world's carbon emissions, (World Bank 2019). Giving clothes a longer lifecycle can help offset some of the negative environmental impact.

For more than forty years we've collected, sorted and sold second-hand clothes. This gives good clothes a longer lifespan and the sales proceeds support development projects across Africa, Asia and Central and South America

Sources and expenditure of funding

In 2022, our members spent approximately US$117 million on development projects worldwide.

Partnerships

Partnerships are a vital part of what we do and offer symbiotic relationships that help our projects to prosper. We would like to thank all our partners for their continued support and commitment to work with the people on the ground, pursuing much-needed development for positive, lasting change.

Good Governance

We are committed to adhering to the highest standards of accountability, transparency and good governance. In 2018, we were officially certified for good governance policies and procedures, including their implementation, by the internationally renowned certification company, Société Générale de Surveillance (SGS) NGO Benchmarking Standards.

In 2021, the certification was renewed, with a score of 96.5%, which places the Federation among top 5% of organisations audited by SGS.
